Description

The manual entries for mod and div should be consistent.
Currently they are not: mod is correct, div is not.

Fix!

The two manual entries should be very similar; right now they are not.

Might it make sense to put them together? Perhaps they were once?
If we keep them separate, I would anyway like that the wording is essentially identical (which is currently not the case).

- % Done changed from 10 to 70

I have revised the manual entries, and think that they are clear and correct now. Checked in!
The final note about DivAlg seems to be too long to me -- can we make it shorter?
