Description
Which other fns should be listed in the "see also" section of the manual page for random ? Bear in mind that there is also the suggestion to use ?? to all NN entries related to "random"
The current situation is confusing.

I find it confusing that most-but-not-all "random" functions are listed under "see also".

My current temptation is to reduce the see-also list, and let the user use **??

An advantage is that we do not have to manually update the see-also list whenever a new random fn is added (something we have clearly forgotten to do in the past).
